Bristol Riverside Theatre presents “Triumph of Love”
120 Radcliffe Street in Bristol, PA

A brief synopsis of the play: “In a garden in Sparta, a great philosopher and his iron-maiden sister live by one simple rule: love is ruinous! With this credo clutched close to their chilly hearts, they shelter their young nephew, Prince Agis, from all things alluring and amorous. Rational thoughts indeed rule the day. That is until Princess Leonide arrives on the scene. What follows are delightful situations instilled with comedy and musical numbers which will unlock every heart, as one discovers that love just won’t take no for an answer.”

followed by 5 o’clock dinner at King George II Inn
102 Radcliffe Street in Bristol, PA

Cost of $62 includes your ticket and a three-course meal.
